LEGISLATOR WARNS SOVIET ON YOUTH

Special to The New York Times

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 29 -

A United States Representative cautioned the Soviet Union tonight that its emphasis on the education of youth would bring public demands for freedom.

"Police state doctrines are ultimately doomed in an educated society," Representative Hale Boggs, Democrat of Louisiana, remarked.

He was addressing the annual conference of the Interparliamentary Union here. Mr. Boggs recalled that the Soviet Union "has put its mightiest thrust behind the education of Soviet youth."

"It is my conviction that an educated people, no matter how indoctrinated, will demand freedom," he said.

In the fifth day of the conference, attended by representatives of forty-seven world parliaments, delegates turned to debate international cultural agreements and freedom of information.

Both the United States and Soviet delegates stressed the importance of cultural exchange programs.
